Risk factors

An investment in the Fund involves certain risks relating to the Fund and the Interests. While certain key risk factors, enumerated below, are underlying which may or may not occur, potential investors should be aware of the risks involved with investing in the Interests and that such risks may affect the ability of the Fund to fulfil its obligations and/or have a negative impact on the market value of the Interests.

Key risk factors (not exhaustive):

1. The Fund's main source of income is cash flows generated by the underlying assets

All, or substantially all, of the Fund's assets will consist of future cash flows generated by underlying assets. If such cash flows become less than expected, there is a risk that the Fund may not be able to make payments to the investors.

2. Limited rights

The Interests are direct, unsecured and payments are made solely out of the underlying assets. The investors have no rights in relation to the underlying assets.

3. Changes in applicable law

The Fund and its manager must comply with various regulatory requirements, including securities laws and tax laws as imposed by the different jurisdictions in which the Fund operates. Changes in such requirements could differ materially from current requirements and may have an adverse impact on the Fund. The terms and conditions of the Interests are governed by Swedish law. No assurance can be given as to the possible impact on the Interests of any future judicial decision or change in administrative practice.

4. Payment of profits

No assurance can be given that the cash flows received from the underlying assets will be sufficient to enable the Fund to make payments on the Interests after payments which rank senior.

5. Operational risk in relation to administration of the Interests

The Fund invests in financial instruments with various characteristics which may involve different risks in relation to transactions, cash and liquidity management, valuation, IT-systems etc.

6. Market risk

Market risk is a risk of general nature, affecting all types of investments. The securities market is affected by the economic situation of the issuers, which are affected by the overall situation of the global economy and by economic and political conditions prevailing in each country. Relevant market risks for the Fund include interest rate risk, credit spread risk, currency risk and corresponding volatility risks.

7. Credit risk

Investments in the underlying assets imply a credit risk in relation to the issuer. Issuers are often rated by ranking institutes and bonds and debt instruments with a low rating are generally considered to have a higher credit risk than those with a higher rating.

8. Counterparty risk

Since the Fund invests in OTC derivative instruments, the Fund is exposed to the risk of counterparty's capacity to comply with its obligations.

9. Valuation risk

The Fund invests in assets of different types and various characteristics. This implies that the valuation of the Fund's NAV is a complex process and based on certain assumptions, which may prove to be incorrect.

10. Risk related to the Interests being subordinated.

Please refer to item Main legal implications of an investment in the Fund and the Fund's target group below.

11. Use of techniques and instruments in relation to securities, financial instruments and currency.

The use of techniques and derivatives implies risks generated by the use of leverage that may be embedded in such techniques.

12. Lack of liquidity in the underlying instruments

The investments of the Fund may be illiquid which imply the risk that the Fund may be unable to realize its investment at desirable price or at the appropriate time.

13. Systemic risk

Credit risk may arise through a bankruptcy by one or several large institutions that are dependent on one another to meet their liquidity or operational needs, causing a bankruptcy by one institution a series of bankruptcies. This is sometimes referred to as a "systemic risk" and may adversely affect several financial intermediaries on which the Fund is dependent.

14. Key personal risk

The Fund is dependent on the efforts and abilities of its board of directors and its portfolio managers. The loss of these persons' services could have a materially adverse effect on the Fund.

15. Tax considerations

Tax charges and withholding taxes in the jurisdictions in which the Fund invests may affect the Fund's result, including return to investors.

Sustainability

Responsible investment decisions

The AIFM considers sustainability risks and the principal adverse impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors in the investment decisions regarding the funds that the AIFM manages. The work with taking responsible investment decisions is based on the methods "include" and "exclude", considering each respective fund's investment strategy, and is through this promoting environmental and social aspects in the fund management process.

A sustainability risk means "an environmental, social or governance event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or potential material negative impact on the value of the investment".

Sustainability factors mean environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti - corruption and anti - bribery matters.

Not managing sustainability risks in an adequate and responsible manner may negatively impact the value of an investment.

Methods used

Include - In the investment process for the Fund's investments the AIFM chose certain investments based on an evaluation of certain criteria regarding environment, social and/or business ethical issues. The evaluation is documented and based on the evaluation the investment may be either included or abandoned.

Exclude - In the investment process for the Fund's investments the AIFM exclude certain investments based on an evaluation of certain criteria. The evaluation is documented and based on the evaluation the investment may be excluded.

The Fund aims to have limited or no exposure to the following industries.

- cluster bombs, person mines
- chemical and biological weapons
- nuclear weapons
- alcohol
- tobacco
- commercial gaming
- pornography
- fossil fuels (oil, gas, carbon)
- carbon
- uranium
- genetically modified organisms (GMO)

The Fund also exclude investments in products related to companies with a red flag on the UN Global Compact list.

When possible, the AIFM also use its influence during the holding period to promote other sustainability factors, such as diversity, anti-corruption and respect for human rights.
